“ Deena was my mom. I miss her so incredibly bad. I miss taking her to see Rod Stewart, listening to music, karaoke, browns football and her amazing personality. These past few years has been heartbreaking because she lived each day in pain. She missed her Father and her Mother very much. She always gave her dogs the best life...Pudge was her absolute favorite and she loved Tess, Brandy, Peaches and Ginger. My Mom loved ME. She worked very hard to give me the best life! Mom, I thank you. It's been a rough few weeks, not the easiest of years and I have wanted to call you a handful of times since you have been gone. My heart breaks knowing I cannot and you are gone and I am all alone....I am scared. You were always my rock. You were the one person that was always there for me...you did it all....Mommy, I hope you are at peace and have no more pain. I miss you, I miss you, I miss you! I LOVE YOU A WHOLE HEART AND A HALF!!!

“ My sister had medical issues every day of her 73 years. Deena was born with congenital bilateral hip displacement and eye muscle weaknesses. Both conditions required multiple surgeries even in adulthood. She suffered body casts as a baby, eye patches as a young child and we were told she'd never walk and never ride a bike ...Darlene did both!of course she did ride her bike smack into the side of the garage. She had spunk! She worked as a nurse aide and when there were job lay offs the only job available was buffing floors so she did it. But when she almost guided the machine through the lobby glass door, it was acknowledged she was better working with patients. Deena had an alter ego named Janice who was the one who did what she shouldn't as a child and said whatever she wanted as an adult. As a child and as an adult she'd say, "Janice did it". We loved Deena...even as Janice. She is finally pain free.
I will miss you little sister. Rest in peace
I love you

“ Deena is a Polio survivor. I remember the stainless steel and leather braces and crutches clacking away as she waddled along as if no problem. I remember her Dad carrying her to where ever she needed to go. I remember all her hard work to rehab and finally leaving the braces for crutches only. We played in her basement lots. My memories were of comic books by the stack and an old accordion that we both thought we mastered. One day we messed with a new Tom Thumb typewriter that her Mom had for sale in the flower shop. Something happened and we snuck it back on the shelf. Aunt Marion discovered the damage while I was still there and wow. We both were sure there would be no tomorrow. After H.S. graduation she went to work and one of my last memories was her new Dodge Challenger.(Blue) and learning where the hot spots were in town. I went to Iowa in '66 and we lost touch. My loss. I remember her smile and laugh, her temper and loud LOUD voice when angered. Rest in peace and Gods' speed. David Runge
