

Frances Mary Lederman

January 9, 1947 - December 27, 2021

Frances Lederman lived a life worthy of remembering; driven by love, and a passion for all she came across as much as, if not more than resilience, she was a mother, a wife, an author, and an artist. She embraced the world with an open heart, and valued freedom, God, and her friendships above all else. Coming from a large family, she had gathered enough memories for a lifetime early, and was a quiet, reserved person in her later years. Even then her love was always unmistakably ever-present. She instilled in those closest to her a sense of genuine faith, love, and wonder, and never discouraged a thought. A rarity in the world. Her sense of humor and wit was something that would never wane and would leave an impression on those who met her for years after. She will be missed, and remembered by the people whose lives she touched, and has left her voice indelibly in them. Born on January 9, 1947 to Viola and Francis Norman in Ohio, with a large number of siblings, she is survived by her children, Benjamin Lederman, Lori Ann Cordero, Lynne Marie Cordero; her brothers, Fred Norman, Patrick (Renner) Norman, James Norman; and her sister, Rita Paul; a number of cousins including Nancy Thanavastien, Molly Newberry, and Walter Norman; as well as a number of nieces and nephews. She is with those departed from us now, of whom loved her dearly, including Mary Renner of whom she would come to know as a mother; her sisters, her brothers, and all those close to her. Day Funeral Service is honored to serve the family of Frances Lederman.
