“ I was a strange, goofy, and relatively loud child who became friends with Janet's oldest son Paul. That friendship has lasted more than 50 years, and during those early years, Janet was a beacon of kindness, thoughtfulness, and an inspiration on a young soul like mine. She treated me with class, and kindness that I will never forget. While I'm saddened by the disease that took her from us, I can say that my memories are full and filled with love and gratitude for her being in my life, and for raising such wonderful children. My thoughts to them and to her husband Jerry, who was also such a positive influence on my life, and I shall never forget their kindness.....Rest well, Janet. Jesus loves you.....and so do I.....

God Bless,
