Just a few days ago we could have had cake for our little Jayne if she were not in Heaven with her Grandma now. I miss them both more than words can tell.

“ You were known to me as Aunt Bea. Melvin and Barbara's Aunt on their father's side. I had spoken with you and seen pictures , but when Geneva died you had Ed bring you to Louisville to be there for Mel and Barb. I will never forget walking in and there you sat. I loved you the moment I met you. You will be so very missed, but the memories we share of you are life sustaining.

“ Mommy my hearts hurts & the tears keep falling, you were so good to us & the things you put up with, all the times you cleaned up fish were your fish tank got broke, we picked dead fish for months,hiding food in the bottom of your flower plants in the kitchen window,all the times I was in trouble & you helped me, you were the Best mommy ever! I Love you so much & will miss you until we met again in heaven

“My mommy always had my back. I remember the first phone call I could make from Basic Training and how hearing her voice calmed me. I told her I wanted to make her proud of me and she said I already had long before. She was there to help me raise my two girls from babies (and all the drama in courts) as she was for many of her grandchildren and even great-grandbabies. She would cry sometimes when little Jay would leave to go home. When she began to be ill enough to need full-time care I counted it as a honor and a privilege to be able to retire and help my sister care for her full-time as my mother had done for her mother and sister and husband and so many others. It was wonderful hearing her replaying memories in her sleep and her "I love you more" response to my "I love you mommy". I still have an ear up listening for her call in the night and still look to check on her where her bed should be. My happy place is knowing that she left this earth for Heaven on her terms, waking up in the arms of our Lord Jesus Christ with her mommy, sister and so many other loved ones nearby. I would not wish her back, just looking forward to the day I join her. I love you mommy, your son Eddie.

*Darlene,
So sorry to hear about the passing of your mother. She sounds like an amazing person. I am sure her legacy with live on through you. I know the days, weeks, months, and years to come will be difficult. Remember her with smiles and laughter. I know you will always hold her memories in your heart.. You will be in my continuous prayers.
With my deepest sympathy,
Bev Murphy*

“ Mom I miss you so much, my heart hurts so bad! I know you are getting lots of hugs from family & friends that went before you & no more sickness, but doesn't take our pain away here. You loved all your family & friends so much, you helped us all the best you could. I was a brat but you loved me just the same. All the things we can talk about when we get together, we did this & Mom did that. It will take time for the hurt to slow down, but my heart won't be the same till I see you again. Mommy I Love You so Much!

Donna Williams - December 21, 2015 at 03:44 PM

“ I still expect to see my mother's loving face. I know she is celebrating with all her family and friends whom she was reunited with in Heaven. My heart thou feels shattered in a million pieces. Some of those pieces are with Mom and other loved ones in Heaven. All the pieces will be glued back together again when we embrace one another at Heaven's Gates. Thank you Mom for all your devotion and amazing love you shared with all your family, friends, and me. Mom, I love you more.

Darlene, it is such a difficult time and you have my heartfelt and sincere sympathy in the loss of your mom. Treasure all the special times and memories. We will see our moms again someday when it is our turn to go to our heavenly home. Until then cherish those times you had. They are smiling down on us with much love!
