“ John always had a smile on his face! Everytime I seen him he was smiling! And He knew how to make me laugh, and put a smile on my face, everytime I seen him! He made a bad day turn into a great one!! I remember when he invited me on a trip to Bowling Green to watch a hockey game. The weather there and back home was SO awful! The roads couldn't even be seen! I was pregnant at the time, I sat in the front seat the whole time with him driving, I was so scared for us all when we were driving in that awful weather.. Its all that was on my mind.. And he knew I was freaking out bout it, so he started to talk to me bout random stuff, he kept me so calm, so I wasn't puttin stress on my baby girl, he told me some funny stories and some great felt ones, and I told him some back.. I opened up to him, but he kept my mind at peace the whole tim!! He didn't drive to fast, he kept both hands on the wheel, and told me a few driving pointers when driving in that kinda weather, so I knew he knew what he was soon.. After the talks we had and once we made it there safely..I knew I could trust him!! On the way home, the same bad weather, I was so much calmer this time, but once again I sat upfront, and we talked the whole time, we laughed, we cried, all that, then we finally made it back home.. But that whole trip was SO much fun, we all had a great time on that mini vaca together!! After that trip, I considered him my second dad. They were my second family!! I basically lived with them for MONTHS, myself and my daughter stayed 24/7, And he treated us like his own!! He had such a great heart, those types of people are so hard to come by nowadays! He sure was one of a kind!!! He was always so great to everyone he met!! Espcially me and most importantly my daughter!! I will cherish all the memories I have with John, forever!! From our crazy talks, to is playin dancing games on the Xbox! He was so full of life, and he lived everyday to the fullest!! He was such an amazing human being.. I will never meet anyone quite like him!! You will be greatly missed, John!! And even though some time has passed since I last saw you.. I still consider you my second dad, I'll always appreciate you and everythin you done for me, and I will always love you!

As for his daughters Tia, Brina, his granddaughter Kay, and he rest of his family you all will be in mine and my families thoughts and prayers through this difficult time.. I'm so very sorry for your loss.. Heaven definitely gained an amazing angel!! <3
