“ For John,
We lost a good man. We all have issues and John was getting his life in order. He loved music, played guitar, loved nature, animals, cars, and was very easy going. He loved his two sons Jason and Tommy, and was very, very proud of them. John and I were each others best man at our weddings, we meet in high school in 1974. He was also a Christian.

There are no words I can convey to share how sad I am. He is with God now and is no longer in any pain. I will never forget John. He made a lasting impression in my life and I learned a lot from him. He was a certified Toastmaster, a collage grad and was at the top of his class. What can I say to cover a span of 45 years other than the fact we were best friends, and brothers from other mothers. I love you man, and I will see you when my time is up when I cross over the Rainbow bridge. God speed.

Just discovered tonight that John died. Mabel LaRue Dean was our mother. I was born in 1946. Lost track of John several years ago, although I tried to find him. Met John in 1999 after tracking my birth family, when he still lived in the family home.
