“ Hey babycakes well that's what you used to call me

Our anniversary just passed on May 12th we've been married for 4 years been together for 11 and believe me I was a wreck on that day That's why I haven't write you. My birthday was on May 21st didn't do nothing to sit here at the house and came and seen you It took roses on their anniversary and I brought another one on my birthday It was just me and you on the open road all the time with our son. My life's been different so much without you here I'm still going through counseling and cancer treatments too I know I'd probably get over a lot quicker if you were here but I know you're looking over me I just wish you could come and see me more so I miss you so badly I'm so alone inside my heart hurts every day I can't believe you're gone I still wake up hollering for you sometimes even walking to the living thing and you're going to be there with a cup of coffee and a cigarette. I just imagine how disappointed I am when I realize reality sets in my babies that peace now and out of pain and walking with the Lord still doesn't make it any easier when you cared about somebody so much and love them so deeply that you didn't think that you would ever find something like that and I did and I thank God for that so I was blessed with that and I think you and I love you and every day I live is for us still hopefully you can see things through my eyes and never breath I take I'm thankful for you cuz without you I wouldn't know where I would be right now I still care you close my heart I sent your mom my mother's day gift appendix I hope she likes it I hope it's not too much for her just I don't know I don't know I just want to make sure I keep you alive as long as I am that's my job now and I'll see you soon hopefully when it's my time to come lay next to you and to see you again because I'm so excited about that and I know that may so crazy in a lot of people but you were everything to me and I'll see you probably next weekend I don't know what to bring I know you never really liked flowers so sometimes I just sit there and sing songs and listen to music and just watch the stream slow down but I love you come check in on me meet me my dreams like we always talk about. You're supposed to be haunting me right now, I like that they said see something and you everyday I love you. Your husband Clyde Strese

I love you so much I stayed with you the entire time holding your hand taking God to keep you here what is selfie sting that was for me I knew you were gone today I left the hospital like you wanted me to I think that was for me at least I like to think so. cuz I don't think I could handle what happened after that but I was there to hold your hand those last few brush you took I was there but promise you that thank God you gave us that wish .. two people that love each other so much he's always with us both now she's trying to get her family to see finally I think I got mines come around and look at us as a couple married we said those valves just like every other person has said them to their loved ones at the chairs with all their heart the one they would die for Believe me I wish it was being say you I would trade you places any day I'd give my own life now that you were alive but that's not God's plan I guess this time keep that spot of the next to you please I'll be there soon with you God our families. you know I've never asked you for anything you know I wanted was you and I thank you for that to save me that spot I think about you all the time every second of every day I never forget this no matter how horrible maybe right now I'm with you always I noticed you're with me seeing behind me guiding me through this mess now That's how I know I'm doing the right thing I really do love you Joshua Strese
