“ Although I didn't get to know lee personally very well, i know what a great man he was. I consider Chris my best friend. And anyone who could raise such a decent, trustworthy, well rounded, good man like Chris, must have been quite a person. Chris has often told stories of lee. (All good) I know lee is with the lord now. My sincerest condolences, Mike Couri

“ Our sincere sympathy to Linda and family. We both enjoyed our "back yard" visits even if it was just a wave and saying "Hi". He was a good friend and neighbor and we will miss him very much. Love, Jim & Marie Wright

“ Linda and family - many years have passed but Lee looks so much like his dad, and my Uncle Leslie. Uncle Leslie was my very favorite. This is Sharon Nichols (Ewing and Maxines daughter). I lost mom 3 years ago - Mom lived to 92 which is a long good life. I remember Lee when he was a young man and I was still a child. You both were very sweet to me. Peace be with you.

“ Lee and Linda were members for a short time in a small Sunday School class I taught. I will miss him, but only until we meet forever again.

“ WE MAY GRIEVE BUT HE SHOUTS GLORY

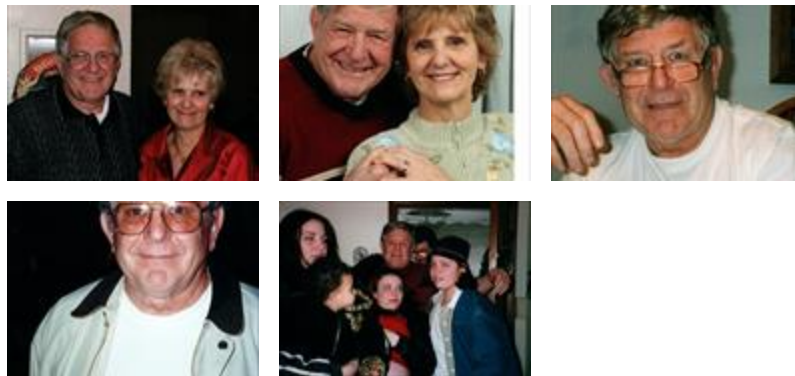

We may grieve, but he shouts GLORY in his home there in the sky,
We may grieve, but he is happy and we'll see him by and by.
We may grieve because we miss him, and we loved him very much,
But he's healed now there with Jesus, for in heaven he is touched.
We may grieve, and that is natural, as with this now we must cope,
But we sorrow not as others who are left without a hope.
We may grieve here in this moment as we look one final time
At the shell of one tired body that he now has left behind.
But we have a hope that helps us as we shed our tears below,
For he trusted in the Savior, that we testify and know.
Do you grieve, friend, for this loved one that you might not see again?
For you still aren't trusting Jesus to be cleansed from all your sin?
You may grieve, but can shout GLORY if you trust in Christ today,
For He'll make a home in heaven and you'll be with him to stay.
