“ My Dad was the most generous person I knew. He was kind. He was funny. Everyone who knew him said how nice he was. None of the bad stuff even matters. I guess he did pretty good. Dad was worried about some of the things he did right, some of the things he did wrong when I asked what was he thinking. I can tell you Dad, it was more of the good than bad. By a longshot. I love you so much and even though I know you are ok I still really miss you.

*Phil my brother! We had been thru a lot in childhood...some good but mostly unstable and uncertain. Oh how your siblings looked up to you! You were the coolest. Always wanted to hang out with you! I could never figure out why you never wanted me around when I was a little girl! Lol but that's how siblings are....thank you for putting up with me and all the talks we had about Jesus and God's word in the early days. Phil was an artist as a small child continuously in front of the TV with his sketch pad and drawing pins and pencils and he was very good. I wish you could have went to art school like you wanted to. There was also an excellent Carver this guy could really carve some cool stuff he carved my son a walking stick he carved me a sunflower he carved his mother my mom a few things one a spoon that I have to remind me of my brother I love you Phil and I believe the week you died I was really concerned whether you made it to heaven and I believe God was telling me you did I know you were very angry at him and your beliefs shifted greatly from the ones you held at the beginning. I will miss you greatly my brother and think of you often I love you Always your sister Constantinople LOL aka Toe
