“ I remember you taking me and Kylie to the park and playing basketball. I remember you always calling me nephew never my name, I remember you taking me on rides on your ghetto ass bike that you made with them low rider handlebars with a steering wheel in the middle of it where we'd act like we was driving. I'm gonna miss you so much uncle, you always kept family by your side and had are back even if we was in the wrong. Rest easy uncle and fly high with your mom and both Mike's and the ones you love.
