He enjoyed visiting the snack room at his apartment building where he would have his black coffee with two sugars. He had an extra sweet tooth and felt that cereal and potpies were all you needed for a balanced diet. He was a fan of basketball and football and enjoyed watching Western movies. Bobby was a verbal expressionist, for he never had a problem saying what was on his mind. When he was able to accompany his partner on outings, he would always tell other men to keep their eyes off his wife. He was witty, funny, smart and very intelligent. He will be truly missed.
